CAMBRIDGE HIGH AND LATIN SCHOOL

Mr. Cleveland

During our undergraduate days we have ever found that our headmaster was ready to give us unstintingly of his time and interest. We are sure that in years to come his excellent advice, and wise counsel will be of the utmost service to us.

We shall always remember him with affectionate esteem.

Headmaster

Dedication

To

Mr. Bramhall

Our Friend

In gratitude for his countless services and kindly advice, we, the class of 1936, dedicate our Year Book

THOMAS LONG BRAMHALL
Assistant Headmaster

Thomas Long Bramhall.

Prologue

Our High School days have come to an end but their vivid memories will be preserved by this—our own yearbook.

When the flower of youth begins to wilt, this will be our treasure chest of remembrances. Then shall we hold it dear, not only for the familiar faces of our friends, but for the precious memory of our youth!

In Memoriam

The class of 1936 wishes to extend its sympathy to the relations and friends of three of our beloved classmates who have passed away during our senior year.

DANIEL DANEHY

Daniel Danehy, one of the outstanding members of our class, is deeply mourned. He was noted for his genial personality and for the joy which his presence brought to his classmates. A youth of great promise, he will not be forgotten by his fellow students.

CHARLES HAMILTON

Charles Hamilton, a quiet retiring youth, has also left us. Known by his teachers and his fellow pupils as one who could be relied on, he was a favorite in his class. Always a staunch supporter of everything pertaining to his school, he will be remembered with sincere tenderness.

DAVID McCLELLAN

Late in May occurred the sudden death of a most beloved senior, David McClellan. Known as a youth who undertook his tasks willingly and wholeheartedly, he had a most promising future. The senior class will surely miss this versatile member. His fellow students will recall Dave as one who was a real Latinite, one who was always ready to help others.

THE PLEDGE OF DAWN

Emotions misty as Aurora's lacy veil
Through which faint glisten gleaming threads of lustrous gold
Envelop us in flimsy clouds of sun-pearled rose.
Fond memories flash as twinkling stars once more appear
All luminous in grand processional array
Tender tears tremble; but bursting hope soars high
With Fame-filmed visions that resound the lofty skies!
Yet closely harken. Softly as the gentle rain
That leaves a trail of sparkling emerald in its wake
Wisdom sagely counsels from her mountain seat
Through dainty blushes of the silver-silent morn.
"To seek the boonless favor of Capricious Fame
And breathe low homage at her ruthless feet of stone,
'Tis but the idle fancy of untutored hearts.
To feel the ever throbbing pulse of zealous Life,
And quaff full deeply of its cup so bitter-sweet,
To greet each coming day with dauntless smile of faith,
And overcome each petty task that comes upon the way,
To love God's image in the common course of man,
And in the fragrance of the rose forget all cares:
Such is the peerless beauty that the Dawn doth pledge."
With this she ceased. Then over all our faces burst
A gleam of sudden truth, a ray of peaceful hope
For blissful ecstacy of true and noble aims.

A Prayer at Graduation

Lord, give us needed strength to meet,
With courage high, with fortitude,
Whate'er misfortune that our groping feet
Encounter here.
Lord, give us steadfast faith to find
In every fellow-man we meet
Some noble trait of heart or mind
That we can trust.
Lord, give us guiding light that we
May choose our path, and falter not,
May follow it, fulfill the destiny
For us ordained.
Lord, shield and guard each great ideal,
Yet, if through human fault it fall,
Teach us with patient, loving zeal,
To build anew, Dear Lord, to build anew.
One last request, from our heart's fullness sprung,
Lord—while we live—keep thou our spirits young.

With great solemnity we entered—four years ago—this place of higher learning—Freshmen! Into the waiting hands of hazing Sophomores walked nine hundred eager, uninitiated, outwardly blase, inwardly quaking, Freshmen. Two weeks in passing seemed to us a fair impression of eternity. Those over, we settled, not without some squirming, into the routine mapped out for us, rushing to classes, finding our way among the maze of stairs, heeding bells religiously, observing the silence rules not so religiously but faithful—after our fashion.

After deep and careful consideration we honored fellow room-mates with appointments to our Home-room Committees. Let us here and now incorporate into this history our sincere appreciation of these committees. They were the forerunners of the various committees, who, during our four years, readily and willingly assumed the responsibility of leading our class. For their faithful application to their duties, for the dignity they bestowed upon our rooms, for the entertainment which they provided on occasion, we are grateful.

We subscribed to the "Review" and thereby received a first hand glimpse of the future. The "Review" established a precedent by accepting a poem entitled "Spring" written by a lyrical Freshman, Thelma Burke.

Dutifully and mournfully, we bent and twisted to the count of one—two—three—four—at gym. Eager English students applied all their efforts to the Caroline Close Essay Contest. The athletic teams received our vocal and moral support, and if the Freshman voice had little meaning for the upper classmen, we at least swelled the gate receipts and the attending throngs, making up in bulk what we lacked in esteem.

So our Freshman year passed—.

With supreme confidence we returned, no longer toddling but striking out with firm steps, rivalling Juno in superiority. We set about our task of instilling the proper respect into the incoming Freshmen and endeavoring to create the impression that—Lo, the conquering heroes are on the spot.

This attitude was nipped in the bud—so to speak—by the installation of that very, very efficient checking system; and Heaven help the person who tried to skip class—no earthly power could help him. To our surprise and chagrin we were forced to the conclusion that we were here for the primary purpose of acquiring knowledge. Again to our surprise we found ourselves see-sawing up and down the Honor Roll. Form then on it seemed the wisest course to pursue diligently the elusive goddess of wisdom. This we did—and with enough success to climb the fence into the field of Juniors.

With dignity and lofty patronage for the lower classes we returned to school. Great responsibilities rested on our cultured minds. As Juniors we must select our class officers. The barrage of cards, posters, blotters, and "campaign boosters" bewildered us so that we finally threw them all in an old hat, and a small Freshman drew out the following names, which strangely enough, more than satisfied us: President, Frank Coady; Vice President, Roland Shaine; Secretary, Marie O'Leary; and Treasurer, Joseph Manley. To arrange and supervise our Prom, we selected Frank Bennett, Pasquale Frizoli, Lorraine Goodspeed, and Addie Beecher. For our Ring Committee, we elected Everett Turcotte, Jacob Kaplan, Dorothea Murphy, George McNally and Francis Farmer.

The Prom, held at the Hotel Commander was The Social Event of the season. (That's putting it mildly!)

Time passed, according to its quaint little habit, and—we were Seniors!

With lordly bearing, we entered for the fourth and last time, this famed seat of knowledge. "H'm, what's that in our way? Sophomores, do your duty and keep the Freshmen off the grounds!"

That small matter attended to, we concentrated on starting our finish. We had had a thorough schooling in all the "ropes"—at least we thought we had. But we've hardly had a chance to use our acquired knowledge. We no sooner learn how to handle certain situations—like being unprepared, or late, or getting excused from school early—than we are rushed through the year to graduation and the knowledge is forever useless.

Once again we elected officers with dignity and calm and concentration, with results which proclaimed us a class of intelligence and perception. For our president we selected Roland Shaine, our vice president, Phillip Gallagher, our secretary, Marie O'Leary and our treasurer, John Madden. The Senior Drama arrangements were efficiently supervised by Janet Berry, John Corbett, Marguerite Cox, Mary Hayes, and Margaret Mador, and plans for the Senior Reception were formulated by a committee of six, James Barnes, Frank Bennett, Edith Coady, Lorraine Goodspeed, John Tenney, and Henry Twomey, Chairman.

The Senior Drama, "The Charm School", was an overwhelming success. Its gay sparkling comedy and fine acting made it one of the most appealing plays ever presented here.

The Reception was held on June twelfth, in the Walker Memorial, and, as we anticipated, was the gayest social event of our four years.

No history of four years at Cambridge High and Latin School would be complete without recording for posterity our appreciation of the opportunity these years gave us of forming the friendships of our classmates, of coming into contact with the splendid teachers, and receiving from this contact lasting impressions of kindliness, firmness and culture.

And so we go—joining hands across the years with the countless other graduates who have gone before us, leaving, we trust, a kindly remembrance of our attempts and achievements.

THE SENIOR DRAMA

"The Charm School"

The Cambridge High and Latin School was regaled on February 21 in the Quinn Auditorium by the hilarious situations arising from the mismanagement of "The Charm School".

Wayland "Torchy" Minot, who portrayed Austin Bevans, an automobile salesman with revolutionary if not anarchical ideas on the education of girls, made a great and deserved hit.

Gen. Doherty, our beautiful leading lady, as Elise Challoner, spread sweetness and light coupled with undoubted charm throughout the play.

Dot Hillner gave an exceptionally fine portrayal of the fluttery Miss Curtis. She made her role as the vaguely vacuous, nervous, and irritating secretary of the charm school outstanding.

Peter Myers, as Homer Johns, the lawyer uncle and guardian of Elise, and mortgage holder of the school, added a picture of senile irrascibility in sidewhiskers.

Edna Mullin, as the strict feminist, Miss Hays, imparted a prim dignity to her character. She was the ballast of the school.

The first scene of Act III will go clattering down the corridors of the Hall of Fame. Bevans had found the runaway heroine; his car had found a tree; and he was taking her back in a buggy. The storm on the stage and gales from the audience combined to make the scene inaudible, yet the confusion merely added to the hilarity. It was a gem of pantomime.

Much of the success of this drama may be accredited to Miss Hartigan, who, as in years past, did a splendid piece of directing. The Senior Drama Committee managed the practical details with great skill. "The Charm School" carried on the high standard of other dramas.

Don Regan as Austin's friend and check-rein portrayed the lawyer David with that display of steady dependability which is his natural character.

The twins, Jim and Tim, in whose parts Henry Twomey and Jim Barnes shared the honors, provided constant humor.

Paul Burke gave us the excitable but ultimately reasonable would-be fiancé of Elise, George Boyd.

Ruth Horrigan as the quick-witted Sally, George's sister, deserves mention for a brisk and refreshing performance.

The members of the charm school's senior class added decorative and musical effects. They were Mary Conley, Mary Hayes, Miriam Roback, Beatrice Robart, Marie O'Leary, Helen Brownrigg and Alice Haley.

"DISRAELI" CAST

First Row: Genevieve Doherty, Denys Myers, Mary Hayes.

DRAMATIC CLUB

This year has been a most outstanding one for the Dramatic Club. The club elected the following officers: President, Genevieve Doherty; Vice president, Mary Hayes; Secretary, Ruth Horrigan; Treasurer, Dorothy Hillner.

The first activity of the club was the sponsoring of the Christmas play which was coached by Miss McGuire. We next presented a play for assembly, the comedy, "Grandma Pulls the Strings". This play, under the coaching of the club's faculty adviser Miss Johnson, was acclaimed a success by its audiences.

The crowning event of our year was the success of the club in the contest given by Emerson College where the third act from "Disraeli" carried off first honors. As a result the cast consisting of Peter Myers, Genevieve Doherty, Ruth Gray, Dorothy Hillner, John Longino, Donald Regan, James Leydon, and coached by Miss Johnson went to Manchester to compete there.

Truly the growth of the Dramatic Club has been remarkable during the three short years of its existence. We are confident that it will continue to grow at its present rate and predict a fine future for it.

On the Corner of Broadway and Trowbridge Streets

By Falter Pinchell

Flash! Flash! Your correspondent is in a daze after touring the night clubs and other places of interest but that does not stop me from breaking forth into some startling "Gossip".

Don Regan, the youngest producer on Broadway, will attempt this fall to put on a show intitled the "Sandals". . . . I hope Don will not have trouble with his temperamental band leader Jimmy Barnes. . . . I forgot to mention that Don will have his friends Pauline Atkinson and Jerry Boyle write the songs for his show. Pauline and Jerry are of Tin Pan Alley Fame.

Heard on the Capital Steps: Fran Welch (The honest Candidate) and Henry Twomey are representative-minded. . . . These fellows are in favor of the Twenty Hour week for High School pupils.

Genevieve Doherty, the petite star of the "Highlight Revue", will be tendered a reception by her old high school chums when her show reaches Cambridge. . . . Those on the Reception Committee are Janet Alperin, Hope Bourque, and Phyllis Benthale.

I see your play boy columnist, "Sonny" Doherty, entering the Paradise club with Dot. Hurley and Ruthie Pratt, two charming models from R. H. Macey's. . . . I wonder what Nicholas Helburn, the president of R. H. Macey's would say if he saw his models with a Gossip columnist.

Is it true that Frank Coady, head coach at Yale, will hand in his resignation. . . . Is it because the athletic committee would not appoint Phil Gallagher as Freshman coach. . . . Frank and Phil have been buddies all through life.

The "Barrow" murder case came to a close today when Roland Shaine, the young criminal lawyer, took a rabbit out of the hat and had his client set free. . . . Roland's next case is to defend the Frank Gerry Corporation in their fight against the government. . . . The Gerry Company refuses to pay the process tax put on the business.

John Tenny and John Monteiro, the highest paid sports writers in the game, will leave for St. Petersburg, Florida, to cover the spring training of the Boston "Bees"; Walter Hastings of Boston Record will also cover the training.

At 1:10 A. M. the other morning I entered the Brown Derby and in the line of chorus girls I found the following from my home town: Alice Bridges, Mary Linehan, Evelyn Grace and Ruth Headberg.

Joe Terra, scion of the famous dentist, was hauled into the Westchester court again for speeding. . . . Judge Richard Barry told Joe if he was brought into court again he would have to get used to walking.

Paul Bartel, pharmacist on Fifth Ave. has remodeled his drug store to suit the local scribes who go there to sip a soda. . . . Especially for Evelyn Bisson.

The radio poll of the comedians showed that Saul Zang and William Kelly are the topnotchers. . . . Betty Connors polled the highest vote for serious dramatics. . . . Marty Reid, the biggest florist on Broadway and all points west, is also an author; he recently sold a love story to the Dillon and Arkins Publishing Co. . . . Edith Coady, for many years physical director at Vassar, has resigned to open her own school of Physical Training in the Empire State building. . . . Thomas Ahern and William Cook, well known stamp collectors, will show their rare collection at Jordan Hall on next Sunday. . . . Capt. Walter Gould of Station 44 has been appointed chief of the Homicide squad. . . . Francis Brogan ("Bring them back alive" fame) has returned from darkest Africa with a cargo of monkeys and tigers for the Ohio Zoo. . . . Bill said that he met Jack Kaplan and Albert Bouché, the scientists, who were doing some research work for Harvard University. . . . Connie Sullivan, the star end of Army, was hurt while playing scrimmage. . . . Sydney Solomon and Harold Nannis, the bankers of Wall Street, are off for Palestine to open a branch bank. . . . Wayland Minot, star photographer for the "Times", has been awarded a bonus from the paper for the best pictures taken at the "T" Wharf fire. . . . Joan Keane and Forda Fillios of the Max Factor Co. will leave soon for a tour of the High Schools throughout the country in an effort to get the young girls interested in a Facial Make-up. . . . Dorothy Hillner, the cooking editor of the Tribune, plans to give out a booklet of 100 recipes in next Sunday's paper. . . . Mary Scheinfeldt has been made commander of the Salvation Army. . . . I see Paul Moylan, the engineer, escorting the first lady of the land to the Military Ball held at the Madison Square Garden. . . . Professors Richard Babish and Warren Trafton have been put in charge of the new M. I. T. radio observatory at Long Beach, California. . . . Miss Jeanne Pearlson, for many years assistant superintendent of the N. Y. Public Schools, has been appointed superintendent. . . . Anne McGlinchey, the debutante of Park Avenue, has gone and bought herself another race horse. She now owns twenty. . . . Dorothy Tessier, for many years librarian at the Central Library in Times Square, has resigned and opened two book stores of her own. . . . Eileen Shea, the current thrush at the Capital, has bought herself a Monoplane, to save traveling expenses. . . . Jimmy Simpson and Jimmie Gilligan have made a picture of the New York Trojans' basketball team in action and they have it open for release. . . . Governor "Gags" Gargano of Kentucky has made Charlie Cuneo a Colonel, a Kentucky colonel, suh. . . . Troy, N. Y.'s Representative, Bill Sullivan, is still fighting for a low gas rate. . . . Eleanor Tynan, secretary to the Governor, won close to $2000 playing the horses at Bowie race track. . . . Recently when Henry Janul lost his wrestling crown to John Gillis, he went to Charlie Carey's Restaurant and Devoured ten steaks. . . . Jimmie Almeida and Phil Roseman of the A. R. Tobacco chain have added another store to their Lexington shop. He supplies the boys of the press with matches. . . .

John Gibbons, for many years auditor for the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co., has left to take the position of treasurer for the John McNamara Co. . . . Paul Burke and all his lads will leave for an engagement at the Miami Biltmore Hotel; he has as his blues singer charming Janet Berry. . . . Incidentally Paul's pal, Art Rowe, is manager of the Biltmore. . . . Frank Bennett and Ruth Fine, well known law partners, have been appointed judges of the night court in Albany. . . . Mary Hayes, the Beauty Salon owner, is planning to have her shops papered with autographs of famous people. I wonder if Mary got the idea from Charles Hollisian, who runs a restaurant on Lexington Avenue. . . . See Ray Chaisson, the hockey star of the New York Rangers, tipping his hat to Irene Crean (The Follies Star) as she walks down Riverside Drive. . . . John Madden and Louise Leupold are working on a new ditty entitled "I'm for You". Their last song, "Tango", sold over one million copies. . . . Coralie Metcalfe, writer for the Tribune, has gone to Hollywood to write stories for the Fox Film Company. . . . Marie O'Leary and Flora Harris have opened a candy shop on Madison Ave., next to the Madison Square Garden. . . . Joe Doherty, the star of the New York Giants, is still holding out for a raise. . . . Joe claims he is worth $35,000 a season. . . . Al. D'Entremont and Arthur Lavoie, the brokers, are off for Bermuda for a much needed rest. . . . The boys were the brains behind that Corbett Oil deal. . . . When Elaine Mahady docked the other day at the Fifty-First pier, she refused to make a statement or tell why she walked out on the British Movie people. Elaine was to make two pictures for the British Studios. . . . Roy Davis, the former agent of Dot Sullivan, attended Dorothy's opening of her new picture entitled the "Goddess". . . . George Bitinas and Robert Crowell of the associated press are off to Africa to cover the War between England and Germany in their fight for the oil reserves of the Ambii villiage. Eugene Laszowski of the Pan Oil Co. states that the fight is useless, because there is just enough oil to put in your cigarette lighter. . . . Evangelist Charlotte Avery has added Boston, Mass., to her lecture tour. . . . While walking down Broadway the other P. M., I noticed Doctor Henry Freniere going into the Bellevue Hospital. . . . THE REVIEW

THE REVIEW, in celebrating its fiftieth anniversary, has spent this year in experimentation. New ideas were tried and those most successful will be incorporated into the magazine as regular features next year. "Who's Who", "Guess Who" and "Name Jumbles", proved to be among the most popular innovations.

To create more interest in the magazine we resorted to advertising in the school, conducting a Prize Story Contest, and enlarging the more popular features. As a result, subscriptions were boosted over last year, but there is as yet much room for improvement.

This year, again, the Review was a member of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association, and of the Quill and Scroll Honorary Society. The former has honored us by ranking our publication in the second highest class of school papers.

Other school papers with which we exchange have also commended us on our success, and our exchange editor, Donald Regan, in comparing our publication to these has called the attention of the staff to the obvious superiority of the Review over the majority of them.

The edior-in-chief, Richard Babish, who has been guiding the Review this year, owes much of the success to the advice of Miss Bligh, the Faculty Advisor, and the aid of the assistant, Jeanne Pearlson. Further credit must be given to the constructive criticism and ideas of Coralie Metcalfe. Much commendation is due our advertising staff whose tireless efforts in securing advertisements have crowned this season with success.

DURRELL DEBATING SOCIETY

During the past year, the Durrell Debating Society has enjoyed a most successful season in which the club organization was greatly strengthened, and the scope and length of the interscholastic debating schedule was considerably increased. The club was under the capable supervision of Miss Margaret Breau, who was aided by the following staff of officers: President, Roland Shaine; Vice President, Henry Twomey; Secretary, Marguerite Cox; Treasurer, Joseph Manley.

Those who participated in the interscholastic debating were: John Madden, Morris Burk, Roland Shaine, Jacob Kaplan, Mary Buckley, Katherine Monahan, Henry Twomey, and Paul Burke. The subject so ably discussed by these debaters throughout the season concerned socialized medicine. The affirmative team won 4 and lost 4. The negative debaters won 5 and lost 2. These teams won their district championship in the National Forensic League and placed third in the New England competition.

One of the high spots of the season was a successful radio debate over Station W. C. O. P. with representative of Medford High School. Our team composed of John Madden, Roland Shaine, and Jacob Kaplan, argued against government ownership of the munitions industry, was adjudged the victor.

The annual Durrell Prize Debate was held Wednesday, April 29, in the High School Auditorium. The negative team consisting of Morris Burk, Katherine Monahan, and Jacqueline Morand won over the affirmative team composed of John Smith, James Cole, and Teresa Regan on the popular question of whether or not the powers of the Supreme Court should be curtailed.

Reviewing their accomplishments, the Durrell Debating Society should regard 1935-1936 as one of the most successful seasons of its existence.

CHESS CLUB

This year there has been increased interest in the Chess Club. This resulted in the extension of our activities which included the staging of three tournaments and several interscholastic matches, and in sending one of our players to the Massachusetts State Chess Association at the Boston City Club.

The first tournament was won by John Davis, the second by Harry Olken. The third tournament, of a new type, in which each player competes with every other member of the club successively, was won by Robert Babish, a very promising sophomore.

The interscholastic games were opened with two drawn matches with Rindge and Brookline. Two other games were lost, one to Lowell and the other to Brookline. Four games were won by a wide margin over Roxbury, Somerville, and Rindge. The latter was twice defeated in nine and ten board matches.

FOOTBALL

Latin's football team did not fare as well as was expected this season due to a lack of veterans and the lightness of the team. Although lacking in physical strength the team was fast and scrappy as evidenced by the fact that the games lost were determined by merely one or two points. Moreover, our team generally outplayed its opponents as far as straight football is concerned.

Out of a squad of fifty-six boys, twenty-four had experience on the previous year's team, and but two were regular players, Connie Sullivan and Frank Coady, captain. Using this material as a nucleus, and with several other good prospects in the offing, we had a rather optimistic outlook at the beginning of the season. However, as the season progressed, it was obvious that the competence of the players could not make up for their lack of weight. Defensively the team was strong, but offensively it was erratic and weak.

Captain Coady, who was awarded a cup for being the outstanding player in the city, was a bulwark on the defense and a strong lineplunger, being shifted to various positions during the course of the season to lend strength where it was most needed. The two Rowe brothers, Arthur and Dick, captain-elect, and Gargano played effective games, while Bill Sullivan, D'Entrement, and Phil Gallagher are worthy of mention.

BASEBALL

This year approximately 150 boys greeted Coach Sonny Foley, Latin's new baseball coach, as candidates were called out for the team. Latin should be serious contenders for the championship of the Suburban League as evidenced by the type of game played by the team this season; they defeated a veteran Somerville nine in the initial contest of the season by a score of 8 to 7.

Those who will probably receive letters are: Bouché, Boudreau, Breen, Clancy, Clark, Captain Doherty, Fratto, Higgins, Kardulas, Lawrence, Manke, McCarthy, Robillard, Shea, Stansbury, Walsh.

TRACK TEAM

Third Row: Dotten, Coleman, Reilly, King, McClellan, Kelly, Rice.
Second Row: Mr. Murphy, Coach; Welch, Burt, Munn, Finnegan.
First Row: Goulart, Mgr.; Cusick, Ponte, Connant, Sullivan, Capt.; Dorman, Shea, Coolin, Higgins.

TRACK

Track is starting to come into its own this year as evidenced by the fact that Latin is having its own team, and is not joining with Rindge.

About 40 candidates reported to Coach Murphy, and the original squad remains unchanged for the season.

In Connie Sullivan, Coach Murphy seems to have a one man track team as was shown in the B. C. High meet where he placed first in three events.

Those who will probably receive letters are: Barnes, Burt, Coleman, Higgins, Munn, Shea, and Sullivan.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION OFFICERS

Second Row: Vice-president, Edith Coady; Faculty Adviser, Miss Brown; Phyllis Norton.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The Girls' Athletic Association this year celebrates the twenty-fifth year of its creation by Miss Brown. Always has the motto of the G. A. A. been "Make everyone happy"; always have the officers worked with that motto in mind. We of the Senior class are proud to have been able to help make this year an outstanding one in the organization. As in the past, the officers with the support of its members have worked hard to carry out their plans successfully. Nothing, however, could be gained without the indispensable advice and assistance given the organization by its faculty advisor, Miss Brown.

The first event this year was the installation of the officers, with the solemnity and dignity which always attends this affair.

The Fall tennis doubles tournament was won by Eva Bakas and Bessie Goldstein. The girls received the standard tennis medals for their victory.

After wearing their red bows and bowing to the officers, the Freshmen were given their party on November 21, in the gym, in the form of a Book Party—the girls coming as characters from books.

On November 22, the officers delivered Thanksgiving baskets to needy families of Cambridge. The association wishes to extend its appreciation to all those who made this charitable endeavor possible by contributing food.

The Girl Dance, held in December, was very successful. Members both past and present attended in large number and the new members were on their best behavior.

The Christmas Party this year was held in the gymnasium. The members were entertained by individual talent and a fine play.

SENIOR BASKETBALL

The Senior Basketball Team has had an exceptional year having met no defeat. The class championship brought five Seniors gold basketballs. The girls for the first time in basketball history, received these awards for having played on the basketball team during its three years of championship. The girls were Edith Coady, Edna Gulgis, Alice Murray, Minnie Pietkewicz, Frances Ritvo, Captain. Besides these girls there were Evelyn Bisson, Julia Buckley, Margaret Downes, Mary Hayes, Dorothy Williams and Dorothy Dignan, manager. The Seniors have met with success in basketball because they built on team-play rather than on one individual. The scores for the season are:

Juniors	3	Seniors	21
Juniors	2	Seniors	19
Sophomores	5	Seniors	26
Sophomores	3	Seniors	25

VARSITY BASKETBALL TEAM

GIRLS' VARSITY BASKETBALL

This year the varsity played games with Somerville, Watertown, and the Alumnae. The team was successful, losing only to Watertown. The scores were as follows:

Cambridge Varsity	37	Somerville Varsity	12
Cambridge Varsity	7	Watertown Varsity	50
Cambridge Varsity	21	Somerville Varsity	6
Cambridge Varsity	33	Alumnae	2

The first varsity was comprised of five Seniors, Edith Coady, Capt., Evelyn Bisson, Julia Buckley, Margaret Downes, Minnie Pietkewicz, Frances Ritvo, and four Juniors, Libbie Flax, Betty Harney, Sylvia Kaufman, Bessie Makris. Frances Brown led the second varsity.

The Annual Boy Dance was held in the Alfred Lassinan Gymnasium at Rindge on Friday evening, January 10th. Socially and financially the affair was an outstanding success.

The Masquerade Dance had as its theme Mother Goose. The gymnasium was decorated with characters from Mother Goose Stories.

Swimming practice has been held at the Y. M. C. A. every Saturday morning under the direction of Miss Potts. We are soon to have a meet with Somerville.

Just around the corner is the G. A. A. picnic to be held at Kendal Green. The picnic marks the closing of the year for the old officers and the opening of the year for the new officers.

HOCKEY

In hockey this season, Latin did not live up to the expectations of authorities who predicted that we would be serious contenders for the title.

As the season was about to open, there was a veteran for every position except in the goal, and this was taken over by Kramer, veteran Rindge goalie of a year back. On the whole the team was light, fast, and had a good passing combination.

Due to the stiffness of opposition we were defeated in early games, but as the season unfolded itself, our passing attack became more polished and, as a result, at the close of the season we were tied with Newton for fourth place. In a special game with Newton to decide the fourth place team, due to a lack of reserve power Coach Culhane forfeited the game after overtime periods.

The outstanding player of the season, without a doubt, was co-captain Ray Chaisson. Starting the season at defense, and then being shifted to his regular position at center, he played a hard, smooth, fast game. He was easily the fastest skater on the ice, and due to his excellent play he was chosen All Scholastic Center for his second successive season.

The Boudreau brothers, co-captain Albert, Herbert, and James played consistently all season, while Robillard, Buckley and Carey also played a fine brand of hockey.

BASKETBALL SQUAD

Third Row: Mgr., Pasquale Frisoli; Edward Zelnio, Robert King, Paul Burns; Ass. Mgr., Joseph Shea; Malcolm Clark, Harold West.

Second Row: Faculty Mgr., Mr. Garrett Foley; Fred Cruickshank, Arthur Reale, Benjamin Fratello, John Marimn, Fred Stack, Daniel Walsh, Francis Welch, John Lynch; Coach, Joseph Kozlowski.

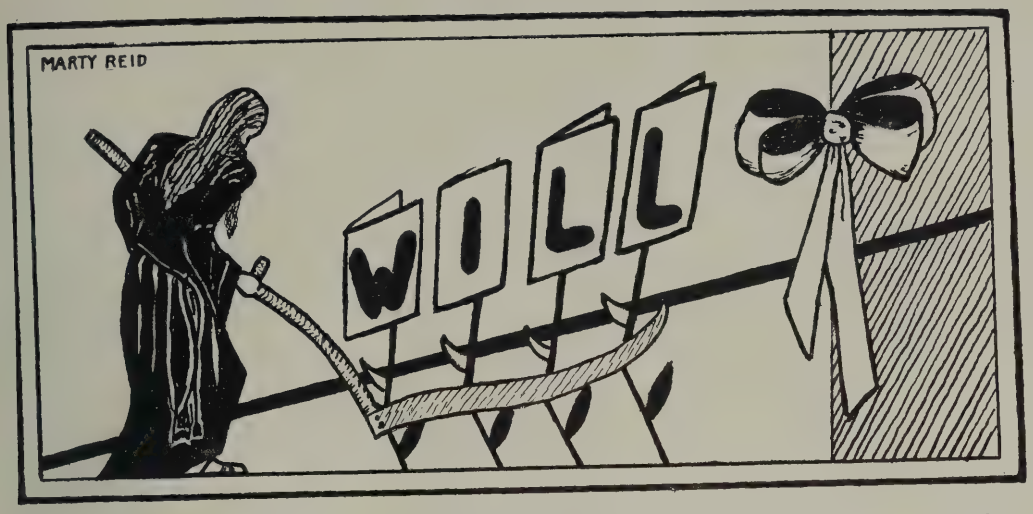
BASKETBALL

Starting the season with practically all veterans, Coach Koslowsky had some fine material, and as the facts show, he made use of every bit of opportunity offered him. The highlight of the season was our seventeen consecutive victories after losing four of our first seven games. In this long string of victories the real possibilities of the team were shown. Defeating Rindge twice by one sided scores, we won the city championship. Invited to enter into the basketball tournament of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, it was predicted by basketball coaches and authorities throughout New England that we were strong contenders for the title. But, when Munn sustained an injury in the last period of the game with Brockton, we were defeated and thus eliminated from the tournament.

It is hard to select our outstanding players, since the entire team did excellent work. However co-captains Jack Munn and Phil Gallagher, Joe Manke, highest scorer on the team, played brilliantly and consistently the entire season. Jim Simpson was an effective player, doing good work toward the end of the season.

Those who received first team letters were: Malcolm Brown, Fred Burt, Frank Coady, Co-captain Phillip Gallagher, John McCarthy, Joseph Manke (Capt. elect), John Marimn, Co-captain John Munn, James Simpson, Fred Stack.

Those receiving second team letters were: Paul Burns, Charles Clark, Fred Cruickshank, Joseph Gobiel, Robert King, Eugene Lovett, John Lynch, Armond Reale, Daniel Walsh, Joseph Welch, Harold West, Henry Zelino, Joseph Shea, manager, Edward Crowley, assistant manager.



KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS that we, the class of 1936, being not of sound mind after the struggle to get 160 credits by hook or by crook and still of unreliable memory, do make, publish and declare, knowing the uncertainty of what comes next, this our last Will and Testament in manner following that is to say, we leave:

1. To the class of 1937, our successors, all our beautifully decorated text books, and our desks, hand carved, which we used with reverence, free and clear, to have and to hold.
2. To the coming Seniors, excuses from all seventh periods, which may be obtained from Mr. Bramhall or Miss McElroy.
3. To the P.G.'s three dozen buckets, which they will place under thirty-six leaks in the assembly hall each rainy day.
4. To each student, two straws with each third of a quart of milk he purchases for five cents instead of one undersized straw.
5. To the student-body, we make an appropriation for the erection of the famous statue "The Thinker" to be placed in the corridor so as to create a more rarefied academic atmosphere.
6. To the class of 1940 the remains of a box of "Wheatics" that they too may become nonchalant in the corridors.
7. To the College Board Hopefuls a few season tickets for seventh periods. Only remember to come early and get a back seat or suffer the consequences.
8. To Mr. Cleveland, our Principal, we leave an appropriation in order to build for him a completely modernized penthouse atop of the new Rindge Technical School. This is in appreciation for the way in which he has taken care of us for the past four (maybe five or even six) years.
9. To Mr. Bramhall, good health and add a supply of rosy apples, so that he can maintain that lovely smile and keep up with the adage, "An Apple a day keeps the Seniors away."
10. To Mr. Danehy, the Junior's pal, a robot which is to be used to run his errands and do all his secretarial work.
11. To Mr. Foley, the baseball coach, all the legal stamps we have, which will buy "socks" for the team.
12. To Mr. Sheehan, in order that "The voice crying in the wilderness" (in room 77) may be changed to the "Shot that was heard around the world" we leave a public address system.

Now since we have disposed of all our funds and all our possessions, which we reverenced, held dear to our hearts, we, on this day of our departure in the year One Thousand Nine hundred Thirty-six, hereunto set our hand and leave, this, our last will and testament, the year first above written.

CLASS OF 1936.

Epilogue - We Graduate

We graduate. We stand on the threshold of the fullness of life. Behind us the garden of playful childhood fades into a sweet memory. On this stage we receive red ribboned tokens of our first hard-earned success: before us the gates to new and harder endeavor open.

The world is turning to us, its youth, to carry on its high ideals, to raise its banners of success still higher, to be its poets of the dawn. For one of us may be a Milton whose power does not yet appear. Another may someday be hailed as a new Pasteur. And although our Maker may decree that we shall not all be famous yet we have a sacred duty: to be pure of soul, to be kind of heart, to alleviate the burdens of fellow men less fortunate than we.

If we do this, if every one holds deep in his heart the vision of a bright, even though far distant star, and pursues it over life's rough paths, across life's deep abysses, one day he will reach it, to find it was an arrow pointing the way to heaven.

Strength! Courage! We graduate!
